

Heat Stress Awareness e-learn

1 Why has this material been produced?

To enable all member company's employees to have a common Heat Stress awareness training.

2 Who is it for?

It is available to all member company's personnel working in the Australian Oil and Gas industry.

3 Is it mandatory to complete the Safer Together Heat Stress Awareness Pack?

No. However Heat Stress Awareness training is required annually in most sectors. This package gives member companies material to use to fill this need.

4 Will I get a Certificate to prove I've completed the course?

Attendance records are to be managed and maintained by each member company within their own learning management system.

5 Will it replace my clients' other Heat Stress training requirements?

Not initially. Where clients currently stipulate certain requirements, these must be followed.

6 Does this Course help me comply with the Safer Together Heat Stress Guideline?

The Health Working Group have updated the guideline and aligned the Heat Stress e:learn tool. At this stage the materials remain available as major sharing. There is no intention at this stage to make the Heat Stress guideline a specification
